MASS INTENTIONS

MEDITATION OF THE DAY

The Saving Streams of Baptism

Today, [Jesus] is baptized in the Jordan. What sort of baptism is this, when the one who is dipped is purer than the font, and where the water that soaks the one whom it has received is not dirtied but honored with blessings? What sort of baptism is this of the Savior, in which the streams are made pure more than they purify? For by a new kind of consecration the water does not so much wash Christ as submit to being washed. Since the Savior plunged into the waters, he sanctified the outpouring of every flood and the course of every stream by the mystery of his baptism, so that when someone wishes to be baptized in the name of the Lord it is not so much the waters of this world that cover him but the waters of Christ that purify him. Yet the Savior willed to be baptized for this reason—not that he might cleanse himself but that he might cleanse the waters for our sake....

We must therefore, be baptized by the same stream as the Savior was. But in order to be dipped in the same water, we do not require the regions of the East nor the river in Jewish lands, for now Christ is everywhere and the Jordan is everywhere. The same consecration that blessed the rivers of the East sanctifies the waters of the West. Thus even if perchance a river should have some other name in this world, there is in it nonetheless the mystery of the Jordan.

What was accomplished then is accomplished now by the same sacraments....For then we saw the Trinity with bodily eyes, but now we contemplate the same Trinity with the eyes of faith; then human face scarcely gazed upon Christ, but now the human mind embraces him; then Holy Spirit in the form of a dove poured over a man, but now by the same power of divinity he is poured within a man; then the Father came to us on account of his Son by a distant voice, but now he and his Son both come down upon us.

The Wisdom of Fulton Sheen

Never forget that there are only two philosophies to rule your life: the one of the cross, which starts with the fast and ends with the feast. The other of Satan, which starts with the feast and ends with the headache.
